Missing Children: Dynamics & Response (MCDR)

Credible. Compelling. Authentic. These are words law enforcement audiences have used to describe Missing Children: Dynamics & Response (MCDR), a one-day seminar presented by the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children. The training has been designed so participants clearly understand the critical role of law enforcement when responding to reports of missing and abducted children and recognizes the need for a comprehensive, planned response to such cases. Those attending will also be introduced to valuable investigative resources that can be of assistance in locating missing and/or abducted children.

Presented in a fast-paced format, the MCDR training is accentuated with photographs, high impact videos and includes the review of several recent child abduction cases. This training is FREE to sworn law enforcement, prosecutors and 911/PSAP Telecommunicators. There is no travel or lodging assistance available for this course. You may register to attend at:

Craig E. Hill ♦ NCMEC Law Enforcement Training

After 35 years of service in law enforcement, Craig Hill retired as Deputy Chief of the Leawood, Kansas Police Department in September of 2005. In 1983, after working the abduction of a 10-year-old girl, Mr. Hill co-founded the Lost Child Network (LCN), a non-profit Child Resource Center in Kansas City. In 1998, LCN merged with the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children (NCMEC) becoming its 5th branch office (Kansas City Branch). Mr. Hill has spent over 30 years providing training and presenting lectures on the crimes committed against children to law enforcement agencies and national conferences, colleges, universities, hospitals and Fortune 500 companies throughout the United States and parts of Canada. During his career, he has received numerous recognitions for his work on missing children cases, including the recovery of two kidnapped children from Kansas found 2 ½ years later in Arkansas; the recovery of a 12-year-old girl found in Florida six years after she was abducted by using an age-progressed photograph; and, the arrest and later conviction of a 29-year-old Connecticut man for the abduction and homicide of a teenage girl. Mr. Hill attended the first White House Conference on Missing, Exploited and Runaway Children in 2002 and was invited to the Rose Garden for the signing of The PROTECT Act of 2003. Mr. Hill is a graduate of the 8th Session of the FBI Law Enforcement Executive Development Program, the 203rd Session of the FBI Academy, and recipient of the 2007 FBI Director's Community Leadership Award. In November of 2005, after serving 10 years on the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children Board of Directors, he accepted a position as the Associate Director of Training & Outreach. Since then, Mr. Hill has traveled to more than 300 cities presenting specialized training to thousands of local, state and federal law enforcement.

Colleen Nick ♦ Morgan Nick Foundation

On June 9, 1995, Colleen's 6 year old daughter Morgan was kidnapped from a little league baseball game. Finding Morgan became the top priority for Colleen and her family. Without hesitation, she closed her private business and began the fight to bring Morgan and other missing children home.

Colleen formed the Morgan Nick Foundation in 1996 and serves as a full time Executive Director. Through Colleen's outstanding leadership, the foundation assists thousands of families in crisis, successfully providing intervention, support, and reunification to children and their families. The foundation is also extremely proactive with prevention education programs for children communities, and schools. Colleen was instrumental in the adoption of AMBER Alert in Arkansas, known as the Morgan Nick AMBER Alert, making Arkansas the second state in the nation to have a statewide alert system in place.

Colleen is a nationally recognized spokesperson and advocate for missing children. She has spoken at Quantico (FBI National Training Base), the National Homicide Investigators Symposium, and National Missing Children's Day with Attorney General Janet Reno. Colleen was invited to meet with President and Mrs. Bush at the White House Conference on Missing and Exploited Children in 2002 to explore new resources in the ongoing fight for missing children. Colleen serves as an independent consultant with Fox Valley Technical College and OJJDP, and travels the nation training law enforcement about the issue of missing and exploited children.

Colleen was a co-creator of Team H.O.P.E. and now serves as a Senior Team Coordinator, supervising numerous volunteers, and providing immediate and ongoing support to families in a 12 states area. In addition, she serves on the Board of Directors for the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, the Arkansas Crime Victims Reparations Board, as well as the past Vice President for AMECO (Association of Missing and Exploited Children's Organizations).

Colleen's passion and unwavering hope motivates her daily to fight for America's missing children. She continues to work together with countless dedicated people and is making a difference, one child at a time.

“Hope is not a Strategy ~~ It is an Action”
