Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to introduce you to the Kentucky Association of Chiefs of Police (KACP). I do so that you might see how your support will help our organization in its mission to enhance public safety in the Commonwealth of Kentucky by our continued efforts to raise the level of professionalism of Kentucky's law enforcement agencies.

In order to develop funds to allow us to invest in our efforts to enhance professionalism throughout our state's law enforcement community, the KACP conducts an annual conference. This conference attracts nationally recognized speakers and trainers. These experts are key to introducing best practices that help guide our local Chiefs of Police in their continued efforts to provide quality service to their communities. Furthermore, this event serves as a great opportunity for these leaders to expand their competencies by sharing experiences, challenges and successes. The event draws a considerable number of executive level officers from the Commonwealth of Kentucky, which provides great opportunities to positively affect the future of policing in Kentucky.

The monies raised by way of this event not only will help the KACP continue to fund its existing programs, such as the well-recognized Law Enforcement Accreditation Program and the recently developed and implemented Dispatch Accreditation Program, but also will assist in KACP's ongoing efforts to improve training agendas, equipment development, leadership opportunities and sponsorships for agencies and chiefs with limited budgets.

We ask that you please consider contributing as a sponsor to the 2017 Kentucky Association of Chiefs of Police Conference, July 23-27, here in Paducah. Attached you will find the defined sponsorship levels. Any assistance is very much appreciated.

If you would like to discuss a sponsorship, please contact me at your convenience by calling 270-444-8590 or by email at bbarnhill@paducahky.gov.

Yours in service,

Brandon L. Barnhill

Chief Brandon L. Barnhill
KACP 2016/2017 President and Conference Chair

The Kentucky Association of Chiefs of Police (KACP) was formed in 1971 to secure official and personal cooperation among law enforcement executives and the citizens of Kentucky. The membership consists of more than 500 Kentucky law enforcement executives including police chiefs, sheriffs, state and federal law enforcement administrators and railroad police.

Today, the KACP is involved in many law enforcement programs to assist police chiefs, sheriffs and law enforcement executives. The KACP accreditation program allows accredited agencies to demonstrate they have met accepted standards for efficient and effective operations. The KACP employs a legislative agent to monitor the Kentucky General Assembly and champion law enforcement issues in Kentucky. The association provides member discounts in testing materials and accredited agencies receive a discount on liability insurance through the Kentucky League of Cities. The KACP provides financial assistance to law enforcement students, Special Olympics, Police Memorial Foundation, Concerns of Police Survivors and, in addition, each KACP region is awarded funds for training and meetings throughout the year.

The KACP annual training conference provides an opportunity to network with your peers, browse the largest law enforcement vendor show in Kentucky and receive quality training. The association also partners with the Department of Criminal Justice Training, The Regional Community Policing Institute and the U.S. Attorney's Offices in Kentucky to provide timely information on topics of interest to law enforcement executives.
